

A Fortnight in Chester County: The American Revolution in Our Backyard

Thursday, February 23 at 7 pm

Date: Thursday, February 23
Snow date: Thursday, March 8

Time: 7 pm

Location: Tredyffrin Public Library
582 Upper Gulph Road, Strafford

To register, call: 610-688-7092
Extension 206

For more information, contact:
Gretchen Chamberlin at gchamberlin@ccls.org

Local history buffs, don't miss this unique and animated presentation narrating the Revolutionary War battles that took place in Chester County.

As part of a multi-award winning County project, sponsored by the National Park Service and the American Battlefield Protection Program (ABPP), Sean Moir, a Chester County Geographic Information System (GIS) Analyst, spent three years researching, mapping, and animating the conflicts of the 1777 British invasion of Philadelphia, specifically the Battle of Brandywine and the Paoli Massacre.

Combining his software and GIS skills with his personal interest in history, Moir has created groundbreaking animated battle maps detailing the troop movement that took place in Chester County during the Revolutionary War.

Sean Moir is a Tredyffrin Township resident and current chair of the township's Park and Recreation Board.

TREDYFFRIN PUBLIC LIBRARY

A TREDYFFRIN TOWNSHIP LIBRARY